PROTECTING STUDENTS FROM ONLINE SEXTORTION

Live Virtual Event for School Safety Partners

October 1, 2026
10:00 -11:00 a.m.

The Office of School Safety (OSS) is pleased to join the Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) Task Force in an encore virtual learning opportunity for school safety partners.

Appropriate for all school safety stakeholders, this training event will address growing concerns around online exploitation of children with an added focus on sextortion, an increasingly common online threat frequently targeting school athletes. In an effort to get this important information in the hands of Wisconsin coaches and school athletics staff, we are asking partners to share this flyer with school community members who work with student athletes.

The event will include:

- An update on ICAC's efforts to address these ever-growing online concerns.
- Actionable recommendations to prevent online harm.
- Guidance on how to respond effectively to youth facing online threats, sextortion, and grooming.
- Information about Speak Up Speak Out (SUSO) and how OSS is partnering with ICAC to keep kids safe in schools and at home.
- Resources to support schools in their safety efforts.

Jesse Crowe has conducted hundreds of investigations into the online sexual exploitation of children and presents nationally and internationally on the topic of online exploitation.

In law enforcement since 1993, Jesse has held positions of patrol officer, SRO, Detective, and Detective Sergeant. In 2010 Jesse joined WI Department of Justice Division of Criminal Investigation as a Special Agent assigned to the ICAC task force. Jesse now holds the position of Special Agent in Charge and is the ICAC Commander for the Wisconsin ICAC Task Force and the Commander for the DCI Child Abduction Response Team. He supervises ICAC Investigations in Madison, Wausau and Eau Claire.
