Panel: Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals – Where are We Now?

Location: TBD

Moderator: Allison Posner

Panelists: Mesay Berhanu (CIS Ombudsman), Greisa Martinez (United We Dream), Patrick Taurel (Benach Ragland LLP), and USCIS speaker (invited)

Practitioners, advocates and DHS representatives will share the latest on the DACA program. Speakers will discuss initial and renewal applications, application data, and USCIS processing times, as well as issues related to employment and travel.

Panel: Employment Hot Topics – Year in Review

Location: TBD

Moderator: Elissa McGovern

Panelists: Fred Troncone (CIS Ombudsman), Marcine A. Seid, (Seid Law Group), Peter Schiron, Jr. (Deloitte LLP), and USCIS speaker (invited)

In the past year, USCIS has adopted precedent decisions, proposed new regulations, and issued new guidance in several employment categories. Panelists will analyze this new era in employment immigration, focusing on the impact these changes have had on the way that employers petition before USCIS for needed workers.

Panel: The Changing Landscape of Parole

Location: TBD

Moderator: Margaret Gleason

Panelists: Steve Thal (Steven C. Thal, PC), Margaret Stock (Cascadia Law Group), and USCIS speaker (invited)

The panelists will discuss eligibility for advance parole, parole in place, and humanitarian parole. Emerging issues and recent changes in these areas will be described.

3:00 – 3:15 p.m. Networking Break

3:15 – 4:30 p.m. Simultaneous Roundtables – Session II

Panel: I-765 EAD Adjudications – Eligibility Issues, Processing Times and Challenges

Location: TBD

Moderator: Carrie Anderson

Panelists: Palma Yanni (Palma Yanni, PC), Emmett Soper (Department of Justice), and USCIS speaker (invited)

This panel will explore temporary work authorization, including eligibility determinations, common processing challenges and resources available when applications go awry. While USCIS adjudicates a vast majority of employment authorization applications within the 90-day regulatory processing timeframe, every year thousands of eligible individuals encounter processing delays. Panelists will lend their expertise on topics including the asylum clock, processing delays, and the collateral effects of work authorization expiration.

Panel: I-601A Provisional Waivers – Program in Review

Location: TBD

Moderator: Lana Khoury

Panelists: Jason Mills (Law Office of Jason C. Mills), and USCIS speakers (invited)

This panel will cover issues in the Provisional Unlawful Presence Waiver program, including concerns with “reason to believe” summary denials, generalized Requests for Evidence (RFEs), the extreme hardship standard, and the lack of any administrative appeal. The panel will also explore developments by USCIS that address Secretary Johnson’s memorandum instructing the agency to expand the Provisional Unlawful Presence program and clarify the factors contemplated in determining extreme hardship.

Panel: Humanitarian Hot Topics – Year in Review

Location: TBD

Moderator: Allison Posner

Panelists: Jason Boyd (CIS Ombudsman), Melanie Nezer (HIAS), Vanessa Allyn (Human Rights First), and USCIS speaker (invited)

Advocates and DHS representatives will explain the developments over the past year in asylum, including changes in the scheduling of credible and reasonable fear interviews. Speakers will also explore the Central American Minors (CAM) Program, the United States’ newest protection program designed to safeguard children from the violence in El Salvador, Guatemala, and Honduras.
