Clerk Presents Awards, Recognizes Impacts in Family Support Services, Mental Health e-Filing, and Digital Workforce Solutions

Clerk Fine Honors Former Chief Justice for Leadership

PHOENIX – On Monday, the Clerk of the Superior Court for Maricopa County recognized staff for their impactful contributions and achieving award winning improvements in the areas of family support services, e-filing in mental health cases, internal job shadow programs, and digital workforce initiatives that leverage emerging technologies.

“Our team continues to be a leader in the adoption of innovative technologies that make filing court documents more efficient for customers and for those in the courtroom,” Jeff Fine, clerk of the superior court for Maricopa County, said. “By implementing advanced digital solutions, our work becomes faster, more accurate, and frees up staff to concentrate on providing even better service for our customers.”

Clerk Fine also honored Justice Robert Brutinel for his distinguished service and steadfast leadership while serving as Chief Justice of the Arizona Supreme Court.

“We faced unprecedented challenges in recent years including the pandemic and were able to not only continue delivery of our services without pause, but also continue to advance access to justice thanks to the leadership and support of Chief Brutinel and the administrative team that he leads,” Fine said. “Chief Brutinel brought the justice community together, leading Arizona’s courts through our most challenging moments.”
