The Lazy Gardener: Gardening with Native Plants

If you love to garden but don't want to devote much time, energy, or just plain muscle power to a garden, native plants are for you! You can transform your garden into a haven for birds, bees, and butterflies, while conserving water, ending dependence on fertilizers, and reducing your gardening workload. There are hundreds of gorgeous native plants that also provide food, nesting material, and shelter for many species of wildlife. Students will assess and map their garden space, learn the basics of planting, and maintaining a native plant garden, and learn to replicate nature's gardening strategies.

The Principles of Permaculture

Discover the principles of permaculture and how to design resilient, sustainable systems that work in harmony with nature. This community education course introduces key concepts such as regenerative agriculture, water harvesting, soil health, companion planting, and ecological design. Whether you're a gardener, homeowner, or aspiring land steward, you'll gain practical tools to create abundance while reducing waste and environmental impact. Learn how to think like a permaculturist and apply these principles in your own backyard or community. No prior experience required—just curiosity and a desire to live more sustainably.

Return to the Sacred

Return to the Sacred is a four-week creative immersion designed to reconnect you with your inner wisdom through art, reflection, and ritual. Each week explores a new theme—self-discovery, play, stillness, and transformation—through hands-on projects that blend symbolism, storytelling, and sacred practice. From flower studies to fables, from mystery vessels to golden repair, you'll create meaningful works that reflect your journey. This course offers a supportive space to embrace vulnerability, awaken imagination, and discover beauty in both wholeness and brokenness. Students will purchase approximately $75 in supplies for the course.

Intro to Birth Chart Astrology

For over 6000 years, cultures across the globe have associated the placements of cosmological bodies with the timing of natural and social events for the purpose of understanding their unique significance. Birth chart astrology is the study which marks an individual's birth as one of those events, revealing the karmic root and aim of their life path within the greater context of the universe. This course introduces the methods and techniques for interpreting the birth chart as a tool for spiritual growth and instruction on how to avoid the philosophical errors common to contemporary western astrology.

Nurturing the Human-Animal Bond: Support, Rituals, and Healing

In this course, you'll explore how to connect with and support your animal companions on a deeper emotional and spiritual level. Together, we'll learn to hold compassionate space through the challenges of animal loss, create rituals for life transitions, and design personalized blessings during times of illness or change. We'll also focus on self-care for caregivers, practice healing energy techniques, and explore honoring the bond with animals after loss. Through hands-on activities and group discussions, you'll discover heartfelt ways to nurture the human-animal connection throughout every phase of life. A $10 materials fee payable to the instructor at the first class.
