Family Advocacy & Community Belonging

All people exist and have reciprocal roles within a family system, however that person defines family. The whole family, individually and as a whole, needs support, connection, and resiliency to make sure they successfully live the good life they envision. Find community with seasoned family advocates from The Arc of Indiana, Indiana Family to Family, and Indiana Partners in Policymaking graduates while adding to your advocacy tools and empowerment.

Partners in Policymaking Alumni

Indiana has supported over 600 graduates from this nationally recognized leadership and advocacy program designed for individuals with developmental disabilities and their family members. Graduates draw on their lived experience to help connect with one another, problem solve, and support fellow Hoosiers navigate challenging systems questions and community living.
