

Disclaimer: Product availability and functionality is dependent on the Microsoft License applied to your profile. Licensing may include access to desktop and/or browser versions of the software that may offer different levels of functionality. Licensing may provide access to a limited access version of the software that may require a paid license for full access. In rare* cases, functionality described in the training modules is unavailable under the current Microsoft G3 license. Furthermore, Microsoft products are regularly updated in ways that may impact the user experience.