Too often voices from the margins go unheard. For many nonprofit organizations, working in those margins is what gives life to your missions. How then might you ensure that those voices are heard?

Advocacy helps your organization amplify voices to ensure that policies are building community rather than creating harm to your constituents. Yet many nonprofit leaders and boards are hesitant to step into the fray.

This interactive workshop will help nonprofit leaders, board members, and program staff:

- Understand the legal limitations of advocacy work
- Learn how to safeguard your organization's mission
- Build a plan to empower advocacy in your organization
