

Waterfront Park LVA Juneteenth Camp

June 13 through 17

Sponsored by the Juneteenth Commission

Campers will be introduced to the works and history of Ed Hamilton, Muhammad Ali, the Underground Railroad and more enriching information relating to Juneteenth and our city of Louisville. After learning this extraordinary history, campers will then create their own sculptures, collages, miniature landscapes, and paintings to express themselves and their new found knowledge. Explanations on their art will be practiced throughout the week to prepare for their very own celebrational art exhibit at the end of the camp.

June 13-17, 9:30am-4pm, ages 7-12

All participants are eligible for a scholarship, snacks and lunch will be provided.

How to apply:

Along with an application, students will need to submit a 250 word essay or a 1 minute video on the subject "How does art change the world?"

The application form is online at this website: louisvillevisualart.org/juneteenth-submission and the deadline for the application is May 6th, 2022 at 5pm. Campers will be notified of their selection by the middle of May.

About the instructor: Kayla Morgan was born and raised in the West End of Louisville, Kentucky. She has been creating art since she was 9 years old when she first began attending Louisville Visual Art's CFAC classes. Since 2019, she has been a full time artist. Kayla explains her art to be "emotional black concept art" expressed through the mediums of acrylic paint and mixed materials. In 2021, Kayla began teaching, sharing her love and knowledge of art from children to adults. She has taught at The Black Excellence Recharge, Liberated Minds Homeschool Academy of Louisville, and Change Today Change Tomorrow Education Center. Kayla also is the President of WhoDontLoveArt, an art business she founded with Ci'Vaughn Green.
