Veteran Success Story

An Army veteran in Northern MD came into the Workforce Center, stating he was very distraught and felt suicidal. He expressed that he had been unemployed since November of 2021 and was now homeless and felt desperate in his current situation. He went on to say, "I knew I needed help a few weeks ago, but I was too proud and did not want to ask for or seek help. Now I am living in my vehicle, low on gas, and hopeless."

After speaking with the Veteran, the Disabled Veteran Outreach Program Specialist (DVOP) created a plan to assist the veteran with getting his basic needs met as well as employment. The first step was getting the veteran adequate shelter with a local organization, then the DVOP gave him a referral to food services that provided daily meals. Next, the DVOP helped him to update his résumé, performed several mock interviews and through encouragement, within two weeks, the DVOP was able to help the veteran apply for and obtain a position in a field in which he had 15 years of experience and was making twice the salary from his previous place of employment.
