

Ann Arbor Farmers Market

spring news + #what's fresh + market feature

JOIN US

Join us May 6 for the first Wednesday market of 2015! Our Wednesday daytime market runs 7a.m.-3 p.m. each week through December and is a great, relaxed environment for doing your weekly grocery shopping. The Wednesday Evening Market returns June 3, 4-8 p.m.

#WHATSFRESH

Visit twitter.com/a2market. What's fresh? Bok choy. wheat berries. spinach. broccoli starts. orange honey. hand-painted fish. nettles. chocolates. redina and cosmo lettuces. artichoke starts. potting herbs. ranunculus. whitefish. hydrangeas. quilted placemats.

BLOG BUZZ

As a Farmer's Market, we are always looking for ways to connect farmers to customers and eliminate the barriers between grower and consumer. We are pleased to have a new, local farmer's market, Argus Farm Stop, in the city to accentuate that mission. Argus is an indoor, year-round market carrying many of the same products from your favorite farms. Only eight months old, it has already made an impact in the local food ecosystem by providing another outlet for farmers to sell their products. Make sure to check it out, and drink some locally roasted coffee as you browse. See you all at the market!

Ann Arbor Seed Company: www.a2seeds.com

SMALL. FARM. RAISED. LOCAL. SEED.

 Eric Kampe fell in love with seed saving while spending time on an organic seed and produce farm outside of Boulder, Colorado. When he and his wife moved back home to Michigan, they met some wonderful people over brunch at Selma Café, where they were connected with rentable land and a part time job to cover some of the start-up costs. Eric handles the field work with a very dedicated volunteer and friend, Stacy Mates.

Eric's wife, Meredith, supports the farm by helping on the business side with markets and keeping the bills paid. Eric encourages gardeners and farmers to participate by saving their own seed:

"LOCAL SEED SAVERS CAN HELP DO THE SOME OF THE WORK THAT I SIMPLY DON'T HAVE TIME AND SPACE FOR. IT TAKES ALL OF US TO BUILD A STRONG AND DIVERSE LOCAL FOOD SCENE HERE IN ANN ARBOR."

You can visit Eric and Meredith, and purchase seeds and seedlings, from the Ann Arbor Seed Company on Saturdays at the Ann Arbor Farmers Market.

We love to be social!

@a2market

Ann Arbor
farmers market
great produce and more since 1919

315 Detroit Street • 734.794.6255
a2gov.org/market | #whatsfresh
annarborfarmersmarket.blogspot.com

Market Hours

January – April Saturdays 8 a.m.-3 p.m.
May – December Saturdays & Wednesdays 7a.m.-3 p.m.
June – October Wednesday Evenings 4-8 p.m.