

Prioritizing Mental Health in Healthcare

2022 Behavioral Health Symposium

Date: June 16, 2022

Location: Virtual

An opportunity for hospitals, emergency medical services, long-term care, public health and behavioral health and healthcare preparedness professionals to gain access to tools and presentations to help cope with COVID-19 related mental health issues, to identify key triggers in staff that may need assistance, self-care strategies and more.

Who should attend: Public health and healthcare leaders, emergency preparedness coordinators, emergency managers, physicians, nurses, pediatric champions, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, and public behavioral health staff (CMH, PIHP, Substance Use Disorder (SUD) professionals/staff).

Registration on MI-TRAIN: <https://www.train.org/mi-train/course/1102277/conference>

Continuing education credits being offered are for Doctors, Nurses, EMS, Social Work and Nursing Home Administrator.

Funding for this conference was made possible by the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response through CFDA 93.074, Grant Number U3REP190584. The views expressed in written conference materials or publications and by speakers and moderators do not necessarily reflect the official policies of the Department of Health and Human Service, nor does the mention of trade names, commercial practices, or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. Government.