

Pinwheels for Prevention

The pinwheel is recognized as the national symbol for child abuse prevention, and represents the happy, carefree childhoods all children deserve. In honor of National Child Abuse Prevention month, you'll find pinwheel gardens around our community throughout the month of April.

Each of us has the power to do at least one thing to prevent child abuse and neglect. You can:

- Be a friend to parents you know. Ask how their children are doing.
- Volunteer as a mentor for children in your community.
- Advocate for children and families by contacting your elected officials. Let them know you support policies and programs that promote healthy child development.
- Donate your time or money to child-serving organizations.
- Support the Stop Child Abuse and Neglect Council (SCAN), a group dedicated to coordinating child abuse prevention efforts in Ottawa County. (More information on opposite side.)
