This also helps make sure hospitals have enough beds for everyone and people who need emergency care can find it quickly.