

EXPLORE NEW INTERESTS. LEARN NEW SKILLS. TAKE COURSERA FOR A SPIN.

The Missouri Department of Higher Education and Workforce Development has partnered with online-learning platform Coursera to provide Missouri high school students with a free Coursera subscription. Take courses on digital marketing, fashion design, information technology support, and data science. Complete certificates in cybersecurity, project management, and UX/UI (user experience and interface) design. Some certificates are recommended for college credit by the American Council on Education and can substitute up to a semester's worth of credit hours, depending on the institution.
