

World View Spring Seminars

Featured Keynote Speakers Announced!

Building Stronger Bridges: Cultural Respect and Equity in the Classroom

A Seminar for K-12 and Community College Educators

March 20-21, 2018

The Friday Conference Center, Chapel Hill, NC

How can North Carolina educators build stronger bridges in their classrooms and communities to support diverse populations of learners? Through plenary talks and small group breakout sessions, K-12 and community college educators at World View's spring seminar will explore issues of cultural respect and equity, learning what barriers need to be removed and what strategies can be implemented to recognize the potential for all learners.

1.5 CEU / 15 PDCH offered. Check out the website for more information or register here.

Featuring a keynote talk from Renée Alexander Craft

Renée Alexander Craft is associate professor in the department of communication and curriculum in global studies at UNC-Chapel Hill. Her research and teaching engages the relationship among colorism, nationalism, nationality, language, gender, sexuality, class, history, religion and region in discourses of black inclusion, exclusion, representation and belonging.

East Asia: Traditions, Trends and Transformations

A Seminar for K-12 and Community College Educators

March 21-22, 2018

The Friday Conference Center, Chapel Hill, NC

East Asia is extraordinarily diverse and complex: culturally, ethnically, geographically, economically. In spite of rapid transitions due to globalization and geopolitical forces, East Asia maintains some of the world's oldest cultural traditions. East Asia's complexity, diversity and shifting role in global affairs present numerous opportunities for learning. Through plenary talks and small group sessions, K-12 and community college educators will explore East Asia's history, culture, diversity, contemporary affairs and changing role in the world. Participants will discover and experience strategies and resources for integrating these issues and topics into the classroom or learning environment.

1.5 CEU / 15 PDCH offered. Check out the website for more information or register here.

Featuring a performance by Abigail Washburn and Wu Fei and conversation about cross-cultural takes on folk, old-time and classical forms of music

Wu Fei and Abigail Washburn's duo is a musical resolution to their specific and differing issues about home. For Wu Fei, it means an opportunity to assimilate elements of her musical argot—Chinese classical, folk and opera—into song forms while leaving room for the free associative tendencies she developed in the practice of free improvisation. For Abigail, it means musical collaboration with someone with whom she can create brave, intimate music.

Apply for World View scholarships to attend a seminar

World View is committed to ensuring accessibility to our programs for all North Carolina educators. We are pleased to provide an annual scholarship for a select educator to attend the seminar of their choice in honor of former World View Advisory Board Chair, Dr. James L. Peacock, as well as two additional seminar scholarships. Read more about the application process here.

Save the Date!

Creating a Global Media Center: A Workshop for School Library Media Coordinators

April 26-27, 2018

Register now!

UNC
WORLD VIEW

DEVELOPING GLOBAL EDUCATORS

World View equips K-12 and community college educators with global knowledge, best practices and resources to prepare students to live in an interconnected and diverse world.

Phone: (919) 962-9264 • Fax: (919) 962-6794 • Email: worldview@unc.edu

worldview.unc.edu

