

Transatlantic Conversations Between NC and German Teachers of the Holocaust

Save the Dates

Saturday,
January 20, 2024

8 am to 11 am - US
2 pm to 5 pm - Germany

&

Saturday,
February 3, 2024

8 am to 11 am - US
2 pm to 5 pm - Germany

Registration in the U.S. Opens January 1

Teachers in North Carolina and Germany Learning Together

In this collaborative exchange of dialogue, Social Studies, ELA, and World Languages educators in N.C. come together with educators in Germany to engage in conversations about the Holocaust. Participants will share and explore global perspectives on the teaching of the Holocaust. Facilitated by expert speakers and university professors in both the U.S. and Germany, this virtual professional development aims to foster a dynamic exchange of ideas, resources, and methodologies, enriching participants' understanding of the diverse approaches to Holocaust education in both countries.

This Professional Development is a Collaboration Between NCDPI, UNC-Charlotte School of Education and Ludwigsburg University of Education in Germany.
