Social Studies Spring 'AI' Webinar Series

North Carolina Department of PUBLIC INSTRUCTION
K-12 Social Studies

SESSION 1

- Tuesday, April 29, 2025 / 4:00 p.m. - 5:30 p.m. (1.5 CEU Contact Hours for Attendance)

- Session Title - "AI 101 for Social Studies: Teaching Smarter, Not Harder"

Description: Curious about AI but not sure where to start? In this interactive session, we'll break down the basics - how AI works, its benefits and risks, and how it can support your teaching. You'll explore hands-on prompting, experiment with AI-generated images, and design a lesson aligned to your NC Social Studies standards. Walk away with ready-to-use content and a fresh perspective on how AI can enhance student engagement. Bring your curiosity, creativity, and a specific standard from your SCOS to work with!

SESSION 2

- Tuesday, May 6, 2025 / 4:00 p.m. - 5:30 p.m. (1.5 CEU Contact Hours for Attendance)

- Session Title - "AI-Enhanced Learning: Beyond the Basics in Social Studies"

Description: Take your AI skills to the next level! Session 2 is an advanced session in which we will dive into more advanced prompting and AI-generated content creation as we focus on strategies for integrating AI into your Social Studies classroom. Learn how students can responsibly engage with AI in age-appropriate ways while developing the durable skills that will empower them to succeed in their future. You will leave with an AI-enhanced lesson plan and practice ways to prepare students for an AI-powered world. Come ready to explore, experiment, and create with standards from the course(s) you teach!
