

A Holocaust & Genocide Studies Elective Workshop

NOVEMBER 6, 2025

Teaching the History of the Holocaust from an ELA Lens

Who Should Attend?

- ELA/English educators teaching the new Holocaust elective
- Social Studies educators teaching the new Holocaust elective
- Any 6-12 educator teaching the Holocaust in an ELA or social studies course

Workshop Description

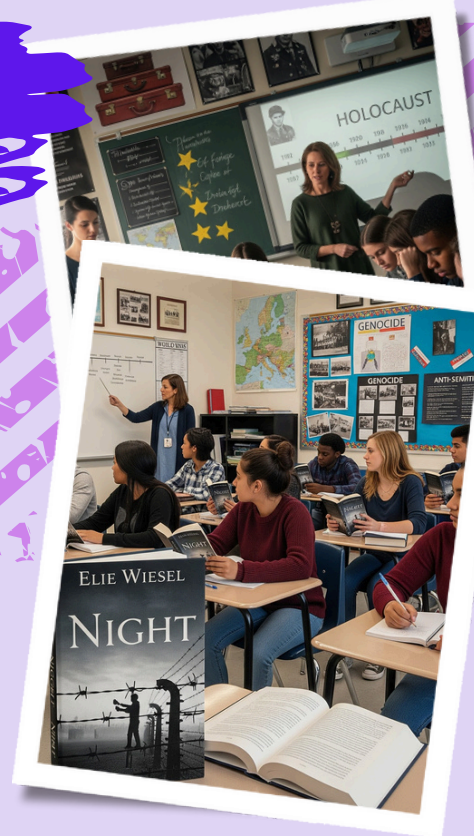

Join NCDPI K-12 Social Studies and the Stan Greenspon Holocaust Education Center for a day of professional learning designed to support teaching the Holocaust elective course through an ELA lens. Together, we will explore best practices in Holocaust pedagogy, examine how to triangulate literature with primary sources and historical context, and consider how this course can serve as a powerful response to today's rise in antisemitism.

Highlights will include the story of Holocaust survivor Abe Piasek, shared by former educator Steve Goldberg, and a special exhibit, "Remembering Through A Shared Experience, The Holocaust." Through Abe's story, participants will see how survivor narratives can be deepened and enriched when taught alongside historical documents, survivor testimony, and context. The exhibit recognizes and acknowledges the contributions of soldiers of color during WWII who liberated the Nazi concentration and labor camps.
