BEHAVIORAL THREAT ASSESSMENT: PREVENTING TARGETED VIOLENCE IN THE COMMUNITY

Workplace Violence Prevention Seminar

Ensuring the safety of our communities is a responsibility that belongs to everyone. For over 20 years, the U.S. Secret Service National Threat Assessment Center (NTAC) has conducted research on the thinking and behaviors of those who commit acts of targeted violence and produced guidance and recommendations to prevent future tragedies.

The U.S. Secret Service National Threat Assessment Center (NTAC), Newark Field Office, and New Jersey Shield are hosting a seminar featuring NTAC's latest efforts to develop best practices for implementing behavioral threat assessment programs. It will highlight research findings and implications of targeted violence in our communities, as well as guidance to proactively identify and intervene with those who display threatening or concerning behaviors as early as possible.

This event is intended for law enforcement, first responders, analysts, educators, mental health specialists, health care professionals, public safety and security, government partners, workplace violence programs, business continuity, and community support programs.
