

EDPlan December 2022 Updates

Parent Consent Event for Initial Parent Consent

Historically, the initial Parent Consent event (that triggers the 45-school day initial eligibility timeline) is created by creating a final Review of Existing Data with a reason for review of 'Initial,' plus 'Additional Assessments Required' and a Parent Consent date. With this update release, the initial Parent Consent event will be created when a Parent Consent with a reason of 'initial' and a parent consent date is finalized.

Reason for consent and Parent Consent date are now found on the document creation page and are required data elements.

Creating a final Parent Consent for an initial evaluation will create the Parent Consent event that kicks off the 45-school day initial eligibility timeline.

Creating a final Review of Existing Data with a reason of 'initial' will not create the Parent Consent event. The Date of Consent field (associated with 'Additional Assessments Required') has been removed from the Review of Existing Data work space and document.

Eligibility Determination

- Developmental History has been added to the Eligibility Determination page and MEEGS document. Data entered on either the Review of Existing Data page or the Evaluations page can be selected on the Eligibility Determination page to include in the Eligibility Determination document.

- Change in wording in Revocation of Consent option in the Team Determination panel – this option now specifies that parent is revoking consent for initial placement and/or consent for all special education and related services.

Team Determination

Based on information from a variety of sources that have been documented and carefully considered, the team has determined

This student Is Eligible for Special Education because s/he meets the State of Oklahoma eligibility standards for the disability/disabilities indicated below

The student is considered eligible so that services can be provided while further evaluation is conducted to determine eligibility under Oklahoma Eligibility Standards.

This student is Eligible for Special Education because s/he meets the State of Oklahoma's eligibility standards for the following disabilities; however, the student's parent/guardian is declining Parent Consent for Initial Placement, or is Revoking Consent for ALL special education and related services.

This student is Not Eligible for Special Education services.

i For children whose primary disability is Developmentally Delayed, the disability category will automatically change to the student's suspected disability on the student's 10th birthday. Parents will be notified of the change by Written Notice. Although this eligibility event is activated upon the student's 10th birthday, the team may meet to consider the student's new eligibility category with a parent request for a meeting.

Primary Disability: Other Health Impairments

Secondary Disability: Speech or Language Impairment
