NEED FOR THE RULE(S):

The Oregon Health Authority (Authority) is continuing to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic and the highly transmissible Omicron variant that is surging through this state at record levels. During the week of December 27, 2021 through January 2, 2022, the Authority recorded 16,791 new cases of COVID-19, a 140% increase over the previous week and hospitalizations increased by 57% over the previous week. Hospitals are having to address the surging rates of hospitalization and consider making triage decisions regarding allocation of patient care.

This temporary rule, OAR 333-505-0035, requires that when a hospital is experiencing a resource constrained period and has to make triage decisions for patient care, it must do the following:

- Provide notice to the Oregon Health Authority that it is making triage decisions.
- Inform the public by at a minimum posting information on its website and at the hospital in conspicuous locations that triage decisions are being made.
- Make available upon request, the triage decision-making tool, protocol or standard that the hospital is using to make triage decisions.
- Communicate a triage decision to a patient, their support person, or the individual legally authorized to act on behalf of the patient, in a language they understand and in a culturally responsive manner to the extent possible given the emergency, including how the triage decision was made.
- Document specific information for each patient undergoing consideration and triage for scarce resource allocation.
- Provide patients information about how to contact the hospital's Americans with Disability Act coordinator or patient advocate.
- Provide the documentation of triage decision to the Oregon Health Authority upon request.

JUSTIFICATION OF TEMPORARY FILING:

The Authority finds that failure to act promptly will result in serious prejudice to the public. The COVID-19 Omicron variant has impacted the state and the world very quickly, causing a sharp increase in the numbers of patients hospitalized with COVID-19, which impacts all individuals needing hospitalization in the state. We know that hospitals are having to make decisions about which patients get scarce life-saving equipment and care. On January 7, 2022, the Oregon Health Authority issued its Interim Crisis Care Tool, which provides a tool for hospitals to use when and if they have to make decisions about which patients get limited critical care resources. The tool will help ensure that difficult decisions about who gets critical care resources, is done equitably and without discrimination. Regardless of whether a hospital uses the Interim Crisis Care Tool, this rule ensures that the Oregon Health Authority is provided notice when a hospital is making triage decisions, that the public understands when triage decisions are being made at a hospital and have access to the triage tool that a hospital is using, that triage decisions are communicated to patients, their caregivers and family members, and that the decisions are being documented and can be reviewed. This rule needs to be adopted promptly so that there is transparency when these difficult triage decisions are being made, and there is accountability for the decisions.
