

Coproduction, according to Contact, the national charity for families with disabled children, is when parents and professionals work together, recognising each other's expert knowledge, to design, develop and improve services for disabled children in the local area.

Are you a parent or carer of a child aged 0 – 5 years with a special need or disability?

Would you be interested in taking part in co-production training that will improve the way that services in Cumbria work together with families?

We are excited to share that Contact will be running three 2.5 hour workshops (online) in October, December and February, to a limited number of participants. The first date is Wednesday 6th October 10 – 12.30.

If you are interested in being part of this training to help improve co-production in the early years, please contact Katie Clarke – katie.clarke@cumbria.gov.uk
