What: Up-skill staff in contextual and complex safeguarding to address extremism, violence and exploitation. Interactive with practical information, tools and knowledge sharing.

How: Provide staff with an overview of the Contextual Safeguarding (CS) model in relation to extremism, exploitation and youth violence, including an update on extremism & serious youth violence in their local area and provide tools with which to practically implement contextual safeguarding principles.

Resources: Slides, activities, presentation materials, staff feedback, certificate and online portal for resources post-delivery.

"There was a good mix of contextual information, interactive sessions and practical applications for our work. We are going to discuss the next steps our our next management meeting - and agree a plan of actions."

"Excellent knowledge base in a relaxed and informative manner, which was encouraging and inclusive."

"I'm more confident to engage ss the training has reinforced and increased my knowledge. We are continuing our mapping to inform our new strategy."

Learning Outcomes

Local Update: Participants are given an update on the key happenings in their area based on research led by front-line practitioners. The update will give an insight into extremist content/activities and themes related to gangs and intra-personal youth violence.

National extremist and violence trends: Conspiracy theories | Hateful Extremism | Rise of the Far Right | Islamist and IS inspired operations | Violent extremism and geographies of harm with practical exercises

Contextual Safeguarding Intro: Participants are given 3 case studies based on real life events of extra-familial harm. They have to highlight the main concerns in regards to the case studies, each related to a different child who share the same context. Participants are introduced to this model of safeguarding, re-visiting the case studies as they go.

Spheres of Influence: Activity that explores the CS model whilst considering the influence the different contexts have over a child. Participants consider a yp in their school and discuss how each of these contexts influences them. This activity will allow staff to understand the areas in which a child needs safeguarding.

Support Mapping: Using the Contextual Safeguarding within the Local Landscape: Participants consider geography of their school, language of their students, behaviour themes to create a shared community map. Allows staff to develop a clear picture of the community in which they operate – can be taken away and developed for operational purposes.
