What can I do
today?

This week it is...water

Wednesday – duck race

- You can either use rubber ducks that you may already have, or you could make some small ducks out of cardboard. There are lots of ideas how to do this online or make up your own design. You could also make boats.
- Use a piece of kitchen foil for the river. If you cover it with water, it will make it more slippery but may slow down the cardboard ducks. You could talk about why this is with your child.
- Find a way of moving the ducks along to have a race. This could be by you blowing, using a bicycle pump to blow them along or by using a jet of water from a squeezezy bottle to push them along.
