What can I do
today?

This week it is...socks

Saturday – pairs

- This is a good activity to focus children's attention for a few minutes and help them to notice colour and pattern.
- Make a grid of squares. You could use tape or string.
- Put one of your child's sock in each square and see if they can find the sock that matches. Use a few pairs.
- When they have found the pairs, you could use the grid to match other pairs such as shoes, coloured bricks or counters.
- Depending on the age of your child you could now teach them how to fold the socks together to make a pair.
