Dear Colleagues

Training Session – Introduction to the BUSS Model

We are pleased to let you know that the Virtual School Team has been able to arrange a training session on the Introduction to the BUSS Model. The BUSS Model was developed by Sarah Lloyd to be helpful when children have experienced developmental trauma and this event is suitable for anyone who works or lives with children who have experienced developmental trauma.

Introduction to the BUSS Model

This is a 1 day training session on the 7th March 2022 from 9:30am – 3:30pm via a Live Webinar

Please find below a flyer which gives full details on the training session and anyone interested in taking part is welcome to sign up by using the link below, there is no charge for this event.

THE BUSS MODEL: BUILDING UNDERDEVELOPED SENSORIMOTOR SYSTEMS IN CHILDREN WHO HAVE EXPERIENCED DEVELOPMENTAL TRAUMA

"I felt like I was gaining in understanding and the use of so much real observation and it's relation to BUSS theory meant I had massively gained in understanding and confidence."

- Feedback from BUSS Training

"The enthusiasm and the real life stories from the parents were inspirational"

- Feedback from Introduction to BUSS

"In just a short period of time Sarah has had a tremendous impact in Leeds in developing and testing out the BUSS model. It is one of the best decisions I have made to support her secondment. The BUSS model and impact this is having is recognised by our strategic boards where she has presented her findings."

- The Children's Commissioner in Leeds, where Sarah is working

"I am totally inspired and motivated by this approach. I love how accessible it is and how much impact can be achieved with some focused thinking and interventions."

COURSE FACILITATORS

We're really excited to be working with Cumbria Virtual School to grow your understanding of BUSS.

Sarah Lloyd will lead the day and you'll meet members of the BUSS team on this webinar (you can read more about us here). We're a combination of BUSS practitioners and parent mentors who are experts in BUSS through their experience of using BUSS with their children and supporting other parents and carers in BUSS.

Sarah Lloyd is a Specialist Occupational Therapist and Author of the BUSS Model. Sarah has published 2 books: Improving Sensory Processing in Traumatized Children (2016) and Building Sensorimotor Systems in Children with Developmental Trauma (2020).
