

The Harmful Sexualised Behaviour (HSB) Panel has been reviewed and will be relaunching in September 2025; this will include a revised referral pathway and an updated practitioner toolkit. As part of the relaunch, the Partnership will be hosting introductory training sessions which will cover:

- how to recognise HSB and identify concerns
- how to refer in to the panel and next steps
- where to go for up to date guidance and resources to use in front line practice.

HSB Pathway

Referrals to the HSB Panel should follow the HSB Pathway and be made using the HSB referral form which can be found here:

Please head to the ERSCP website for more details.

Toolkit

If any worker from any agency is worried about the behaviour of a child or young person which they think is sexually harmful they should consider the Hackett Continuum and the practice guidance in the HSB Toolkit:
