Ethan's story

"I used to get bullied for being different... and it just made me a very angry child. I eventually got excluded for fighting with a teacher. After my A-levels, my mother suffered a breakdown and my girlfriend left me... I was drinking a lot, hiding in my room for months. I had many suicide attempts. I didn't want to try any more..."

On Spear, they seemed to actually care. They explained it was me who had to make the change. They would help, but wouldn't do it for me. And I really appreciated that. I feel such gratitude towards them – I don't think I'd be where I am today without Spear."

Through the Spear Programme, Ethan got a job at Wagamama's, and is now studying Computer Science and Cybersecurity at the University of Brighton.
