Shropshire's Educational Psychology Service

No Worries Training which took place in February 2025 at the Bar-nabas Centre

"I attended the "No Worries" training and found it very insightful and impactful. The training is designed to support children who are struggling with anxiety by providing them with practical tools and coping strategies. Sheri Wright and Kim Jeffries, Educational Psychologists from Shropshire Council's Educational Psychology Service, thoroughly explained each step of the intervention and walked through how we would implement this with the children. Sheri and Kim also explained the underlying psychology (Cognitive Behaviour Therapy) behind the approach which was both interesting and relevant. The training was engaging and interactive as we practised the strategies, we shall be using with the children to help them manage their worries and build their resilience. Following this training, I now feel confident and equipped to support children in overcoming their anxieties and fostering a positive mindset. I am really looking forward to delivering the "No Worries" programme."

Ellen Parsons, Graduate Psychologist

If a member of your school staff is interested in receiving the No Worries' training, please register an expression of interest with Donna Price or Jeanette Vivers at eps@shropshire.org.uk

NEURODIVERSITY PRACTITIONERS

APRIL 2025

Our New Brochure

Now that we are a permanent service, we are pleased to announce that our brochure is live on Shropshire Learning Gateway. Find out more about us and how we can help your school: NDP Brochure

From April 1st, we are offering a range of affordable packages, supporting settings across the age range (0-25) to embed neuroaffirmative inclusive practice and to enhance staff knowledge and confidence. We can also work directly with pupils and can offer CPD opportunities.

Success Stories

So far, we have worked with over 1/3 of all Shropshire schools through the NDP pilot project and/or Partnership for Inclusion of Neurodiversity in Schools (PINS) programme. There are some amazing things happening in these settings and we are so pleased to have been a part of their exciting journey.

At Clive Primary School, Years 5 and 6 have been taking part in sessions to learn more about what it means to be a neurodivergent learner and to understand more about different sensory preferences and the importance of equity and inclusion. Staff and pupil feedback from these sessions has been very positive!

Coming Soon

The NDPs are delighted to be involved in the delivery of Autism Education Trust (AET) training and supporting schools to implement strategies for best practice. GAP (Good Autism Practice in Schools) training is now available - schools and early years settings can contact Dr Kathryn Morgan at kathryn.morgan@shropshire.gov.uk to arrange dates. Dates for Inclusive Leadership to Support Neurodiverse Students in Schools training will be released soon.

The NDP team are hoping to deliver the neuroinclusive module, Transition in Schools, in the summer term. Date and venue to be confirmed shortly.

APRIL 2025CHANGE ATTITUDES TOWARDS AUTISM

It is estimated that only 1 out of 4 autistic pupils feel happy at school. World Autism Awareness Month aims to raise awareness and acceptance of autism and to empower individuals.

A free resource pack for primary and secondary schools can be found on the AET website, helping you to deliver assemblies, lessons or activities to promote greater understanding. World Autism Acceptance Month 2025 | Autism Education Trust

Top Tip for Supporting Neurodivergent LearnersREDUCING OVERWHELM

Multi-faith celebrations such as Easter or Eid al-Fitr can be lots of fun, but they can also be challenging for neurodivergent individuals as changes to predictable routines and activities can result in sensory and social overload.

Designate a quiet area for the learner to use for a break from interaction and provide them with a toolbox of familiar objects and activities that provide comfort and security.

Neurodiversity Practitioners (NDPs) Post Support Survey

Has your school been part of the NDP pilot project? The NDPs are in the process of gathering data from schools to measure the impact of their involvement, asking key staff members the same questions asked at the beginning of the project. If you are a SEND-Co or headteacher who has not yet responded to these questions, you can do so by clicking on this link:

**NDP post-project questions**

The NDPs also have an evaluation form which will help to gather more detailed feedback from school staff, pupils and parents/carers following the involvement of the NDPs. We would love to hear your thoughts! Please feel free to share this link, or complete this survey, with the young person, family members and colleagues who have been supported through the NDP pilot project:

Updates from the Sensory inclusion Service (SIS)

A message from the Sensory Inclusion Service about Deaf Awareness Week: 5th - 11th May 2025

Did you know that there are over 45,000 deaf children in the UK? Hearing loss can be in one or both ears and can range from mild to profound. There are lots of different types of hearing devices, from conventional hearing aids to cochlear implants/processors to support children with hearing loss.

Why not take this opportunity to share the Sensory Inclusion Service's Top Tips for deaf awareness during an assembly for Deaf Awareness Week:

Deaf awareness Top Tips:

Make sure you are inclusive – if a deaf child hasn't heard what you have said, don't say it doesn't matter, make sure you take the time to repeat clearly what has been said so that they can join in with the conversation.

Talk at normal speed with normal lip-patterns. Did you know that lots of people with hearing loss rely on lip-reading to support their listening? Make sure that when you are talking, the person with a hearing loss can see your face clearly.

Try not to stand in front of a light source, like a window, as this can obscure your face and mean that the deaf person cannot read your facial expressions or lip-read effectively.

Try not to make unnecessary noise as this can be very distracting for someone who wears hearing aids. Think, are you tapping a pen? Shuffling in your chair? Talking when you shouldn't be? This can all make it harder for the deaf person to hear.

Suggested Activities for the week:

Why not have a bake sale to raise money during the week for the local Shropshire Deaf Children's Society?

Why not find a story book that includes a deaf character for a literacy focus, or research famous deaf people.

Why not try a lip-reading challenge.

Perhaps you could learn to finger spell the alphabet.

You may be able to organise a visit from the Hearing Dogs for the Deaf.

Needs some inspiration - there are more ideas on the National Deaf Children's Society (NDCS) website here:

Deaf awareness games and activities | National Deaf Children's Society

If you want more ideas or information, please contact your school's Teacher of the Deaf or the Sensory Inclusion Service on 01952 385269 or SENDandInclusion@telford.gov.uk. We'd love to hear about your events.

Updates from the Autism Commissioning Officer

Shropshire Autism Strategy Employment Survey

Commissioning officer autism Pip Long is working closely with stakeholders and autistic people to identify priorities for an all-age autism strategy through collaborative and integrated working. One of these areas is employment.

We know that the national employment level for autistic adults is reported as 21.7%, a figure influencing independence and inclusion together with wider economic impact.

Improving sustainable employment opportunities for autistic people requires an improved understanding of the needs of those with lived experience which is why a survey is so important.

Our strategy development work includes both an overview of national guidance and current local level work to determine clear priority areas and short, medium and long-term goals.

Employment strategy work covers a review of recruitment practice including applications, interview and support in the workplace and how to encourage a wider understanding of autism in our employers across Shropshire to ensure our approach is inclusive and effective.

We're keen to understand what is working well, the gaps in support and how well young people feel prepared for work. The survey is available to those 16+ to capture the voices of young adults as they consider employment.

Please use the link below to complete the survey:

Shropshire Universal Autism Support Service

Kids will be offering the following support to families:

- The 'Healthy Parent Carer' programme, designed to reinforce parent carers' resilience. This programme aims to improve health and wellbeing among parents of children with additional needs and disabilities through:
  - Promoting greater empowerment, resilience and confidence of parent carers;
  - Taking small steps that are associated with better health and wellbeing;
  - Encouraging setting achievable goals and taking a problem-solving approach.
- 'Riding the Rapids' programme to support parent carers' understanding of behaviour and implement support strategies. The course enables parents to understand their child's behaviour in the context of their additional needs, and apply strategies to support positive behaviours. It also helps parents to develop stress management strategies and confidence in managing their child's behaviour. The course is collaborative, so that parents develop tools they can take with them and continue to apply once the intervention is complete. Riding the Rapids differs from other parenting groups as it is applicable to children with a range of disabilities, and has been adapted to meet the needs of particular groups of children with additional needs.
- Coffee mornings and drop-in sessions
- One-to-one support
- Child/young person 'Understanding me' group sessions.
