

Events in the Tamworth area

The Clockmaker Tamworth Library Local History Group invites you to join them with guest speaker Jill Gadsby, a local family historian, who will not only share her story about her local clockmaker ancestor, but will also share tips and advice on how to find out more about your ancestors	Mon Sep 9th - 10.30am Tamworth Library 	Free (No need to book)
The history of Market Street – exhibition. Thanks to research by Tamworth Library Local History Group we can gain an insight into what Market Street looked like in the 1800s. Exhibition includes maps and images from the 1800s	September 9th until September 22nd Tamworth Library	Free
Tamworth from the skies - exhibition Display of aerial photographs of Tamworth during the 1900s	September 9th until September 22nd Tamworth Library	Free
Crime on the canals Local author Anthony Poulton-Smith will talk about over two centuries of murder, theft, criminal damage, health and safety, and even truancy. Until the coming of the railways these waterways were the main arterial routes in the country and, as such, proved a	Mon Oct 14th 10.30am Tamworth Library 	Free (No need to book)

temptation to every rogue, rotter and ne'er-do-well. Not just the macabre here but also the mysterious, the hapless and more than a little humour. Opportunity to buy a copy of Anthony's latest book "Crime on the canals" Ancestry surgeries Do you want to research your family tree but are unsure how to start? Book one of our one to one half hour Ancestry sessions at the library to get you started. Ancestry is available for free in all Staffordshire Libraries.	Monday 7th October between 9:30-12 and Wednesday 16th October afternoon between 2:30-5. Tamworth Library Tel 0300 111 8000 Email: tamworth.library@staffordshire.gov.uk	Free – please book at the library. Places are limited.
---	---	--