

Welcome to Leadership 360

We wanted to facilitate an opportunity for some reading and reflection time and have sourced and bookmarked some key articles, podcasts, resources and books for you, your governors, and members of staff to review and consider regarding Curriculum Matters. We hope you find them useful.

What is education for?

This question means different things to different people. All aspects of a person's life can impact on their understanding. This article is an excerpt from a new book by the late Sir Ken Robinson and Kate Robinson. The book brings together all of Sir Ken Robinson's key messages and philosophies as he challenges us to reimagine the world of education.

In his final public speech, Sir Ken Robinson invited us to imagine a new normal, and to understand how we can create a world that values every individual.

A model for the learning process and why it helps to have one.

In this post Tom Sherrington uses a diagram to visualise a shared model of the learning process. He uses the model to support discussion when exploring other interlocking ideas.

The Thinking Curriculum: The One Stop Shop

For a long time, many in the education world have focussed more on the how rather than the what. This blog post explores 22 curricular terms which the author used to shape their thinking about the curriculum.

Curriculum Planning to Support Learning

Shaun Allison summarises how evidence from cognitive science and educational research supports our knowledge and understanding of how we learn.

Adaptive Teaching

Adaptive teaching can support different features of curriculum design. This article explores two features of the curriculum that are enhanced and two possible way to implement adaptive teaching.

Knowledge Organisers

This article looks at what knowledge organisers are and how teachers can use them in primary school teaching across the curriculum.

How to embed retrieval practice into your school's curriculum.

This blog summarises what retrieval practice is and provides a five step plan.
