Flexible Support Fund

The flexible support fund helps Universal Credit Customers with discretionary funding aimed at removing barriers to work and is subject to eligibility

How Universal Credit can help your business

Universal Credit means the 16 hour rule no longer applies, so staff can increase their hours and no longer worry about losing their benefit.

Universal Credit gives jobseekers the flexibility to consider short term work - as they'll know their claim stays open and their benefit payment will adjust accordingly.

Universal Credit gives employers the opportunity to use existing part time staff for overtime and extra shifts at peak times.

Universal Credit offers jobseekers the opportunity to improve digital and budgeting skills, giving employers access to a wider pool of better prepared applicants.

Universal Credit helps parents by offering more generous childcare support, helping them to not only move into work but increase their hours and availability.

Universal Credit payments are calculated using the PAYE real time information you send to HMRC. A simpler and more accurate system - which means you will get fewer wage enquiries.

The flexibility of Universal Credit means you can give your staff extra shifts and responsibilities. This enables existing employees to increase their skills and progress within your company - encouraging retention and a long term reduction in recruitment costs.

Universal Credit increases the financial incentive of work and provides employers like you with a more flexible workforce.

 Opening up work_

There is no 16hr rule

There is no limit to how many hours a claimant can work. This means that Universal Credit will not necessarily be stopped if they -

- work extra hours
- have more than one job
- get bonus payments
- are on a zero-hours contract
- get overtime

- Universal credit remains to support jobseekers to start work
- Universal Credit supports employers wishing to give staff overtime and peak seasonal work without impacting their claim.
- The Universal Credit Taper gives your staff the opportunity to take extra shifts by ensuring that they will always be better off in work! UC is reduced by 55p for every £1 earned.
- Universal Credit payments are calculated using PAYE data that you send to HMRC, meaning more accurate data leading to fewer wage queries.

Access to Work
Making work possible

Older workers

Older workers offer a wealth of experience and skills that can be invaluable to any business. There are many ways that you can tap into this talent:

Age Friendly Job Fairs- Jobcentres regularly host age friendly job fairs which are free to attend. This is an excellent opportunity to meet candidates face to face, and even interview and offer a position on the day if appropriate.

Interview Days- Utilise Jobcentre rooms to interview customers. Online applications can sometimes be a barrier for our customers, so meeting them face to face is an opportunity for the candidate to showcase their talent and it is also an opportunity for you to see if they are the right fit for your business.

Work Experience- Work experience welcomes new perspectives and skill sets into your business and can be particularly beneficial for our customers who are experiencing a career change and who would like to try something new.

Apprenticeships- Apprenticeships are not just for the young and can be beneficial for anybody of any age, allowing people to gain skills and experience in a new field.

Centre for Ageing Better Employer Pledge- The Age-friendly Employer Pledge is a nationwide programme delivered by the Centre for Ageing Better for employers who recognise the importance and value of older workers. The pledge is a commitment to improving work for people in their 50's and 60's.
