Recovery News

Application Deadline is May 31

Disaster Recovery Centers Open in Anchorage, Eagle River and Wasilla

Were you affected by the Nov. 30 Alaska earthquake? Is your home or business in Anchorage, Mat-Su or Kenai Peninsula? Get answers about disaster assistance.

Disaster recovery centers are staffed by representatives from FEMA, the U.S. Small Business Administration and other federal, state and local agencies. One-on-one assistance includes:

- Help to register for FEMA's Individual Assistance program.
- Help completing paperwork and checking the status of your application.
- Help applying for the SBA's low-interest disaster loans for businesses of all sizes, private nonprofit organizations, homeowners and renters.
- Help understanding how to appeal FEMA eligibility decisions.
- All disaster recovery centers are physically accessible and offer effective communication options including captioned phones, Video Remote Interpreting, American Sign Language interpreters upon request and assistive listening devices.
- If you need an accommodation or assistance due to a disability, notify FEMA staff at the time of registration or anytime during the assistance process.

To find one near you, visit: www.fema.gov/drc or see page two for Alaska locations.

Keep in Touch with FEMA to Update Your Contact Information

Applied for federal disaster assistance after the Nov. 30 earthquake? Missing/outdated information can delay your recovery.

Alaskans can keep in touch the following ways:

- Create an account at DisasterAssistance.gov where you can get answers, update important information and documents and get information about the appeals process.
- Call the Helpline: 800-621-3362 (FEMA). Lines are open daily from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.
- Visit a disaster recovery center.

Keep in Touch!

Low-interest Disaster Loans

The U.S. Small Business Administration is the federal government's primary source of money for the long-term rebuilding of disaster-damaged private property. SBA helps businesses of all sizes, private nonprofit organizations, homeowners and renters fund repairs or rebuilding efforts and cover the cost of replacing lost or disaster-damaged personal property. For more information, applicants may contact SBA's Disaster Assistance Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955. TTY users may also call 800-877-8339. Applicants may also email DisasterCustomerService@sba.gov or visit SBA at www.SBA.gov/disaster.
