

CCON 024 Operational Contracting Credential

Description

Contracting Professionals responsible for supporting day-to-day operations of military installations will have the opportunity to engage in practical learning experiences, including negotiating techniques, managing challenging interactions, handling government property, and adopting strategic sourcing methodologies. CON 2310 is the core of this credential as it is a case study based on a real-world procurement that delves into the nuances of Operational Contracting. This credential complements foundational DAWIA certification training by focusing on contracting for installations, garrisons, posts, and bases, and emphasizing procurement of supplies and services. By the end of the credential, you'll be able to apply competencies from the DoD contracting competency model.
