featuring best practices from across the country

This webinar features

Urban Indian Housing

Monday, April 15, 2024

2:00- 4:30 pm Eastern Time

In this webinar, seasoned Native nonprofit organizations will share how taking greater control over development and management of their housing, supportive housing, and shelter programs may improve their ability to center community and Native American cultural experience. Approximately 70% of American Indians and Alaska Natives live in urban settings, where it can be a challenge to find culturally welcoming support. Featured organizations include:

- Chief Seattle Club in Seattle, Washington, which has long assisted the immediate needs of Native individuals who are homeless, is currently developing its first permanent supportive housing program.
- The American Indian Community Development Corporation in Minneapolis, Minnesota, is a developer of permanent supportive housing, rental-to-homeowner housing, and provider of detoxification and homelessness services. Recently, they opened a 50-bed, 24-hour emergency shelter and offer street outreach.

Join us to learn about their journeys.
