

The U.S. Commercial Service Can Help You Promote Your School in India!

Virtual Education Fair

In these popular events, six accredited U.S. institutions speak to an audience of agents and counselors at the U.S. Embassy and Consulates throughout India. Each school will promote their institution in a 10-minute presentation via an online platform, followed by a Q&A session. After the fair, each school will receive contact details of all agents and counselors that register, helping you quickly build a network of reliable contacts throughout the country.

U.S. Commercial Service Global Education Team

Located in over 100 offices throughout the U.S. and in Embassies and Consulates around the world, we have Education Specialists who can:

- Advise institutions on market selection, the education policy landscape, and understanding foreign students' preferences.
- Connect with agents, counselors, and partners.
- Offer timely, free insights through our popular Education Resource Guide and our Country Commercial Guides

Why India? According to Open Doors data conducted by the Institute of International Educators, the United States has become the destination of choice for Indian students seeking to study abroad. For the 2017-18 academic year, India was the second leading place of origin for students coming to study in the United States with a record 196,271 students.

Of the students from India currently studying in the United States, about 50 percent are graduate students, while 12 percent are undergraduates. Most of the remainder are pursuing Optional Practical Training (OPT).

India consistently sends its best students to the United States. Partnerships are vital to be successful in recruiting in this diverse and complex country.
