WEBINAR
Doing Business in the United Arab Emirates

U.S. COMMERCIAL SERVICE
United States of America Department of Commerce

Organized and hosted by U.S. Commercial Service

The U.S. Commercial Service and the Michigan Economic Development Corporation (MEDC) are pleased to offer a webinar on Doing Business in the United Arab Emirates (UAE). Join speakers from the U.S. Commercial Service, the U.S. Embassy in Abu Dhabi, Dentons Law Firm, and the MEDC as they provide critical information for Michigan companies interested in strengthening business relationships and increasing exports to the UAE.

The webinar will feature a welcome address from The Honorable John Rakolta, U.S. Ambassador to the UAE. A Michigan native, Ambassador Rakolta has made it a priority to strengthen business ties between the state and the UAE.

WHY THE UAE?

The UAE has a GDP of $377 billion and its geographical location is at a crossroads between Europe, Asia, and Africa. Due to a continuous flow of new business opportunities, a solid financial system, and well-developed infrastructure, the UAE is an ideal location for conducting business locally and regionally. Additionally, the UAE is politically stable, boasts a low crime rate, has no exchange controls, and low corporate and individual taxes. Leading sectors for U.S. exports and investment include renewable energy, oil and gas, safety and security, defense, construction, education, healthcare, automotive, information technology, conventional power, and aerospace.
