

$100,000 SCHOLARSHIP

Applications due by 5pm ET, May 1st, 2022

What is Legere Legends?

For eight years, John Legere was known as the outspoken, radical CEO of T-Mobile. As a true visionary, Legere brought fun, common sense, and relatability to his role and masterminded one of the most impressive turnarounds in corporate history.

John has always advocated for access to education, encouraging everyone to continue learning and to mentor those following in his path whenever possible.

This year, he's decided to create and award the first Legere's Legends $100,000 Scholarship to one incoming college freshman – allowing them an opportunity to succeed without the financial burden oftentimes associated with college. Heading off to school should be a cause for celebration, excitement, transition (and fun!) – yet seemingly insurmountable loans and student debt continue to surge for millions in America.

While John doesn't have all the answers to solve the root of the debt crisis, he's decided to do what he can to lighten the load for one lucky student. Through Legere Legends, John hopes to extend the gift of education to one student who shares his passion for learning, humility, and personal growth in all aspects of life.

The Rules

1. You must be a high school senior
2. You must be accepted to and attend an accredited college or university (entering Fall 2022)
3. Applicants must prove a cumulative G.P.A of 3.4 or higher
4. Applicants must submit a 500-word essay about a hardship they've had to overcome.
5. Please submit a short video (less than one minute in length) telling us more about you!

The Legere Legends Scholarship is awarded by The Legere Family Foundation

For more information and to apply, please visit:

www.LegereLegends.com