

What is Public Health AmeriCorps?

AmeriCorps and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention joined forces to create Public Health AmeriCorps, a groundbreaking new initiative to support the recruitment, training, and development of the next generation of public health leaders.

Support Local Communities

Public Health AmeriCorps partnered with Blue Ridge Medical Center based in Arrington, VA, a Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC), to bolster their workforce and provide more equitable health outcomes for the underserved communities of Nelson, Amherst, and Appomattox counties.

Benefits of Serving

Education Assistance

Receive an education award to help pay for school

Grow Professionally

Gain valuable experience and access to network of employers looking to hire AmeriCorps alumni

Get Support While You Serve

AmeriCorps members receive living allowances, developmental training, and more during their service term

How You Can Serve

We are looking for people who are wanting to serve their community and are wanting to gain experience in the field of public health. You can serve in one of these positions:

HEALTHCARE RESOURCE SPECIALIST

Break Barriers and Improve Lives

FOOD SECURITY AND NUTRITION ADVOCATE

Become a Champion for Food Security in Your Community

DATA SPECIALIST

Supercharge Healthcare and Fuel Change by Powering Progress

COMMUNITY HEALTH EDUCATOR

Empower People Through Education

To apply, send your resume to G.Puskas@BRMedical.com

BRMedical.org

Blue Ridge Medical Center

BlueRidgeMedicalCenter