It could take 60 days or more for the FAA to publish this change, and even longer for other aviation informational sources.

Current FAA aeronautical charts, data sources and other aviation informational data bases such as SkyVector and AirNav may not yet reflect the change.

Aircraft Registration Notice: Due to COVID-19 constraints, applying payments for aircraft registrations is currently backlogged. We are working as quickly as possible to catch up and ask for your patience. We apologize for any inconvenience. Please contact our office if you have questions.
