

Focus on the Out Breath: Corporeal Poetry

with Wryly T. McCutchen

In this two-session workshop, readings and exercises will draw on the poetic potential of the body (its various parts & wholes). Prompts will offer unique entry points into the body as a site of revelation, reclamation, & self discovery. Through exploration and experimentation our writing will flow from an expanded, fully embodied sense of self.

Wryly T. McCutchen is a hybrid writer, interdisciplinary performer, community educator, and 2018 LAMBDA Fellow in poetry. Their debut poetry collection, My Ugly and Other Love Snarls, was published in 2017 by University of Hell press.
