

I, TOO, AM THE DREAM CONTEST

Are you, or do you know, a rising high school senior? Do you imagine that no matter who you are or where you come from, the American Dream is for everyone? And, have ideas that will make the American Dream real? Do you want an opportunity to win $5,000 to use toward achieving your dreams?

The Contest

Submit an essay, poem, spoken word or short story of 1,000 words or fewer using the following prompt:

The story of the American Dream is one of aspiration, potential, hope, and dynamic tensions – opportunity and injustice, achievement and inequity, and triumph and challenge. Some have argued that the Dream is more of a myth than a reality. Many, who challenge the conventional understanding of the American Dream, cultivate a more inclusive and expansive vision of the Dream. They embrace the invitation to be ambassadors for advancing the American Dream, securing the Dream for future generations. Drawing on your own personal experience and/or the experiences of others, describe your vision for a reimagined American Dream and how you envision advancing it for yourself and others.
