Special Education Parent Survey – Pilot LEAs needed (extended to January 15th)

This is an invitation to be a partner in the 2024–25 Special Education Parent Survey pilot!

The pilot centers around the implementation of a new survey to gather data related to State Performance Plan (SPP) Indicator B-8, which measures the degree to which parents report that schools partner with them to improve outcomes for students with disabilities. The new survey questions were developed by the Parent Engagement Focus Group as part of the work of the State Design Team, as well as the state’s Special Education Advisory Council (SEAC).

OSPI will be partnering with the Technical Assistance for Excellence in Special Education (TAESE) center at Utah State University to develop an online portal to collect this information. All parents/guardians of students with IEPs in Washington will have the opportunity to participate in the parent survey once every two years beginning with the 2025–26 school year, and Local Educational Agencies (LEAs) will be assisting in disseminating survey notifications to families. The LEA’s primary role with regard to the surveys will be to disseminate information about the survey to their families of students with IEPs.

The Special Education Parent Survey pilot will take place in the spring of 2025. Pilot LEAs and their families of students with IEPs will receive:

- Early access to the survey platform;
- Clear LEA instructions on how to disseminate the survey notifications to families;
- Technical assistance, guidance, and feedback to support and problem solve; and
- The opportunity to provide feedback on the new survey tool, platform, and process, which will be used by OSPI and TAESE to make improvements prior to launching the survey statewide.

If you are interested in participating in the pilot or have questions, please contact the WISM team using the title “Parent Survey Pilot” by January 15, 2025.
