Presentation Objectives

- Identify where psychosocial rehabilitation programs fall within the mental health continuum of care in Wisconsin
- Understand the essential connection between psychosocial rehabilitation and employment

Defining Psychosocial Rehabilitation

Psychiatric rehabilitation promotes recovery, full community integration, and improved quality of life for persons who have been diagnosed with any mental health condition that seriously impairs their ability to lead meaningful lives. Psychiatric rehabilitation services are collaborative, person-directed and individualized. These services are an essential element of the health care and human services spectrum and should be evidence-based. They focus on helping individuals develop skills and access resources needed to increase their capacity to be successful and satisfied in the living, working, learning, and social environments of their choice.

How can I make a referral to CRS, CSP, or CCS?

Contact your Tribal health care office or county health and human services department.

Tips for Making a Referral

- Contact the Tribal nation or county health and human services department to ask what documents and information is needed to make a referral.
- Consider preparing a referral packet to send with each referral.
- Follow up regularly on the referral once made.
- Be clear on the timeline of the service need (example: this person will be leaving the hospital in three days).
- Make it easier for the provider to get the information they need by helping to get a signature on releases of information.

Employment Service Providers

If your agency provides employment services and is interested in providing services through CCS, CSP, or CRS, contact your Tribal nation or county health and human services agency.
